TO HOLD CLINIC

Another Crippled Childrens' Diagnostic Clinic is being planned for July 26th, 1940. Most of us will remember the Clinic held in Uvalde on July 21st, 1938. The 1938 Clinic was attended by 168 handicapped youngsters from twelve counties, together with several local physicians and many other interested citizens.

Our first Clinic was made possible by the Crippled Childrens' Division of our State Department of Education and was directed by Mrs. Ethel Lindley, Uvalde County Nurse, with sponsorship of the Uvalde County Crippled Childrens' Committee, Uvalde County Parent and Teachers Association, Uvalde Rotary Club, Lions Club and the American Legion. Four well known specialists examined the children.

The great success of the first Clinic leads us to expect a greater attendance at this second meeting, where we expect to have those children helped before through this means and many new cases should be brought.

We hope that all who read this will be on the lookout for Crippled youngsters who need help and cooperate with the case-workers who will be seeking those in need.

HIGHWAY HIGHLIGHTS

The big new bridge across the Hondo creek east of town, together with its approaches for some distance at each abutment, is completed and was opened for general traffic Tuesday. County Judge and Mrs. Arthur H. Rothe were accorded the special privilege of being the first to drive across and made the drive Monday afternoon in the rain.

The new structure is several feet wider than the old one, is approached on a straight roadway and a wide-based road-bed. It will render traffic much safer and faster than over the old structure, which, by the way, is now being dismantled. This is part of the specifications of the contract and the job will not be formally accepted until the work is completed.

Bids for this work were advertised for in this paper in its issues of November 3, 10 and 17, 1939. On Nov. 21st, the contract was let to L. A. Turner of Bishop for $97,787.45, "for construction of seven-tenths of a mile of Hondo creek bridge relief bridge and approaches." Work started about the first of the year. It was delayed somewhat by cold weather and later by delay in delivery of steel. Approximately six months has been required to complete the job—a magnificent structure.

At its sitting on Tuesday of this week, among numerous other contracts let, the Highway Commission let a contract to Colglazier & Hoff, Inc., of San Antonio, for 20 miles of leveling up courses and seal coat on U. S. 90 in sections from 7-10th mile west of Castroville to D'Hanis. This work is to cost $19,947. This work is expected to be a great improvement to the highway.

Work on the big bridge at Castroville and the section of new Highway on both sides of the river is now well under way. So, also, is the improvement on Live Oak Creek west of D'Hanis. When all these improvements are completed the travelers over Highway 90 will have little to complain of over the Medina County section—the pioneer piece of Highway paving west of Bexar County.

Hondo should now concentrate its undivided attention on a location for 173 with a view to its continuation to a direct junction with 83—from Canada to Corpus Christi by the most direct route!

ADVANCE IN LOCAL POST OFFICE

Postmaster Lawrence Brucks in formed a representative of this paper that the local post office will be advanced from Third to Second Class, effective July 1, 1940. Clarence A. Haass and Frank E. Schweers, clerks employed in the Hondo office, will become automatically covered into the Classified Civil Service and after that date will be subject to the 40 Hour Week Law. Due to the working of this Law, as passed by Congress, additional clerical assistance will be necessary and Miss Genevieve Brucks has been employed as part-time clerk. Miss Brucks formerly worked in the Courthouse, as an employee of the Medina County Abstract Co.

Mr. Brucks advises us that the 40 Hour Week Law does not apply to Postmasters and that they are required to render service of 48 hours per week or as many more necessary to perform their duties. There are four classes of Post Offices, 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and the class of office is determined by the amount of stamps sold annually. There has been quite an increase in the sales of the local post office the past few years.

BLUE LODGE INSTALLS

Last Monday night was the regular installation night for the officers of Hondo City Lodge No. 756, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons. Sickness prevented the attendance of Senior Warden Elect Howard Short, and as a consequence, the Senior Warden, Junior Deacon and Senior and Junior Stewards will have to be installed at a later meeting.

Other officers were installed in due form as follows:

Robert Kollman, Worshipful Master. Earl Starnes, Junior Warden. Homer Hansen, Senior Deacon. Elmer J. Leinweber, Treasurer. Rev. W. S. Highsmith, Chaplain. Marvin F. Schweers, Secretary. Geo. H. Kimmey, Tiler.

The latter four are hold-overs having been re-elected to positions they were already holding.

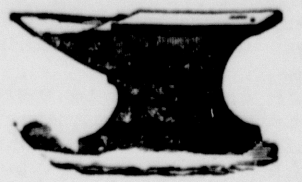

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

To all Taxpayers who took advantage of the half payment plan on the 1939 taxes, this is to advise the last half must be paid by June 30, 1940, otherwise penalty and interest will accrue.

To those who did not take advantage of the half payment and still owe the full amount of the 1939 taxes, this is to advise that same may be paid any time in June with only 7 1-2 per cent penalty and interest, whereas, on July 1st, the penalty will increase to 8 per cent with 6 per cent interest, plus $1.00 cost of redemption. 5tc.

Respectfully,
MRS. MINNIE HEATH,
Tax Assessor and Collector,
Medina County.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

The opinions here expressed are Mr. Preston's own and not necessarily those of this paper.—M. E.

Under cover of war and national defense news, a few Senators are blocking measures which two-thirds of the members of both Senate and House think are necessary to speed America's rearmament.

Nobody accuses these few Senators of attempting to hamper the national defense program, but a vast majority of their colleagues are convinced that the minority is unwittingly doing just that.

Two months ago, three-fourths of the House members voted to pass the Walter-Logan bill. That was before the European war speeded up in May. The objective of the bill is to give individuals protection in court against the arbitrary and capricious rulings of bureaucrats.

The House was overwhelmingly convinced, as shown by its three-to-one majority for this bill, that Washington bureaucrats are too heavily handed in the rules which they promulgate by the score and which tell nearly every citizen, from WPA worker to big corporation, what he shall do.

After it passed the House, the Walter-Logan bill was approved unanimously by the Senate Judiciary committee. But even to this day, a small group of Senators is fighting to the last ditch to keep the Senate from voting on the bill. They know that if the Senate does vote, it will pass the bill by a whopping majority.

The bill's supporters say that if two months ago it was necessary, in order to move the nation toward recovery by giving relief from bureaucrats, then it is doubly necessary today so that workers and factories may get to work at the job of turning out airplanes and ships and guns.

Another important measure now has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate—the Smith bill amending the Wagner Act. Two-thirds of the House members voted for it.

This bill has been pending for months. Its passage has been demanded by many groups, including not only manufacturers who want industrial peace so they may turn out national defense equipment but also the American Federation of Labor. Polls of public opinion have for a long time indicated a similar desire. Thus even though this small group of Senate obstructionists might not like the bill which the House passed, they are aware of the general desire for amendments to the Wagner Act. They have had ample time to prepare amendments which would have been agreeable to themselves.

Instead, it is pointed out by the defense-conscious legislators, they have just sat tight and done nothing. Now, with leaders aiming toward adjournment this month, the obstructionists still intend to do nothing.

The other solons, like many an average citizen, know the troubles which have occurred in numerous industries as a result of maladministration of the Wagner Act. They realize, too, that if the Wagner Act and Labor Board continue in the future as they have in the past, they will provide a fertile field for foreign agents and saboteurs to tie up essential national defense industries.

Apparently the only thing that could move these obstructionists would be a flood of mail from back home demanding action on these two bills. The time is short for that.

—WSS—
Washington is getting a lot of chuckles these days about the new attitude of some of his previously bitterest enemies toward Representative Martin Dies of Texas.

Even the President once accused Dies of "sordid procedure". Now, though, Dies is turning over to the White House and government agencies report after report on ism activities. The President and the Justice Department are out to take care of the subversives whom some just a few short months ago said didn't exist.

The current general Washington opinion is summarized in this remark by a National Press Clubber: "It's a case of eating crow, and Martin Dies hasn't got any feathers around HIS mouth."

The CIO, however, hasn't changed. Dies reports that it has put into the field against him a candidate who seeks to unseat Dies and represent his district.

A MESSAGE.

The fragrance of the apple bloom
And pear tree's petalled snow

Though you were unaware;

But wept, at length, instead.

"When statements about Alka-Seltzer are made over the air, please, please believe them."
Mrs. Oma Catherine Jones

MILLIONS suffer less from Headache, Acid Indigestion, Distress of Colds "Morning After" and Muscular Fatigue because they have heard—and believed—Alka-Seltzer radio announcements. To these millions, the relief obtained by the use of Alka-Seltzer is worth far more than the genuine enjoyment they get from the broadcasts.

The most important parts of our radio program, both to you and to us, are the commercial announcements. Once you have tried Alka-Seltzer we believe you will agree with us.

But try Alka-Seltzer because it is an unusually effective medicine not because you enjoy the radio programs.

WHY ALKA-SELTZER IS SO EFFECTIVE

The pain-relieving analgesic in Alka-Seltzer is in complete solution, ready to ease the distress as soon as you swallow it. The painrelieving action is made more effective by alkaline buffers. The alkalizing elements in Alka-Seltzer reduce excess stomach acidity.

Get Alka-Seltzer the next time you pass a drug store.

Trapping of fur-bearing animals in Texas hit a new low for recent years during the season just closed. The season was not satisfactory, according to reports to the executive secretary of the State Game Department, despite the fact the number of fur-bearing animals apparently increased appreciably. However, prices on practically all kinds of pelts were low and little trapping was done during the open season. Not more than half the normal number of trappers were in the field, reports from game managers and fur buyers indicate.

The young student is a nephew of several San Antonians, Mrs. J. C. Cobb, 1613 West French Place; Mrs. James W. Lundy, 616 Waverly Avenue; Mrs. J. B. Kelly, 414 Shearer Boulevard, and J. B. Rihn, 2802 West Salinas Street.—Wednesday's San Antonio Express.

MANY BOOSTERS HERE FOR HIGHWAY MEETING

Representatives from Hondo, Jourdanton, Pleasanton and Corpus Christi met with an equal number of men in Devine Thursday, June 13th, to see what could be done to secure more work on Highway No. 173.

District Attorney R. J. Noonan, County Attorney F. X. Vance, Commissioner Bader and others were here from Hondo; County Judge Earl D. Scott, Judge Steinle and others from Jourdanton, and Messrs. W. M. Neyland, W. E. Dickerson, Jack Bell and others of Corpus Christi. A fine luncheon was served by the ladies of the Methodist church, covers laid for fifty. Spring chicken, green beans, salads and other good things were served after which Secretary Joy L. Tilley called the meeting to order and talks were made by Judge Scott, Judge Noonan, Mr. Neyland, Mr. Bell and Mr. Dickerson of Corpus Christi. Mr. Bell said Corpus Christi now has over 50,000 population and with the new naval base to be started there real soon, hoped to make a city twice its present size. Judge Scott said Atascosa had promise of another letting on No. 173 and on the eleven miles from the present end of the work towards Jourdanton; said the right-of-way had been secured and most of it fenced. The Hondo speakers said they were doing all they could towards securing a right-of-way into Hondo. Mr. Neyland thought it would do no good to ask for an extension towards Hondo until the right-of-way is secured. A motion finally prevailed to appoint a committee to work with the county commissioners of Atascosa and Medina in trying to secure the completion of the Atascosa eleven miles, and a right-of-way into Hondo so that the commission could ask for work on that end. Mr. Dickinson moved that markers be placed on the road from Jourdanton to the present terminus of No. 173, so that people can find the way through there. Mr. H. W. Eschenburg said the Humble Oil Co. will paint the needed signs if he could get the names of roads, etc., needed.

Following are the names of those present who registered in the secretary's book: Hondo: Frank X. Vance, Robert H. Kollman, J. H. Burgin, Rudy C. Rath, Alf. A. Bader, R. J. Noonan, N. C. Johnson.

Jourdanton: A. N. Steinle, V. F. Parma, Earl D. Scott.

Pleasanton: E. W. Wehman.

Antelopes are not all the same size. The eland of Africa is one of the largest, weighing sometimes as much as 1500 pounds and standing as high as 6 feet. The smallest one in the world is also found in Africa. It is the dik-dik which is about the size of a rabbit.

(It's nice to be missed—and to prove that we were crowded out last week and not playing off on the job, we give you P. A. just as it was prepared for last week—and we'll take advantage of the brief respite now. Forgiven?)

These summer days affect people queerly: BETTIE SCHMIDT has the fishin' fever... MRS. CHARLIE SCHUEHLE learned to walk barefooted while out camping... MARTIN NOONAN sits on the curb with HOMER ROTHE and watches the cars whizz by... it might have been the weather, but MRS. P. JUNGMAN says there was so much news in our last week's paper she had to lie down to read it (and probably went to sleep)... HEDWIG WINDROW, SHIRLEY HADY and BLANCHE CLEMENTS tried to promote a picnic and ended up by eating potato chips and olives all alone... CLINTON JAGGE and CLINTON WURZBACH have become air-minded and are the newest recruits to the flying school at St. Mary's.

We would like to have seen: EMMETT KOLLMAN, with a piano scarf for costume, dance the hula to CLINTON TAYLOR's one-finger piano accompaniment... O. A. FLY taking lessons from Drugstore Cowboy HUBERT HERMES on how to wear—and walk—in boots... the circus MRS. JOE WEYNAND, now 78, remembers seeing over fifty years ago.

What They Are Doing: VICTOR SAATHOFF is combining farming and chauffeur... BOBBY CAMERON is our newest printer's devil and we don't see how he can get so much ink on such a little nose... JACKIE EDDLEMAN is rigging up his own private moving picture show and we have a personal invitation for the premier showing of the feature, "DONALD DINOSAURUS AND THE SNAKE IN THE GRASS"—which will be shown later to his friends for a small admission fee.

All the dither Wednesday about a bad storm approaching and to call out all the "trouble-shooters" for the public service company, turned out to be due from all that blowing and puffing SHERIFF CHARLIE SCHUEHLE had to do to get a San Antonio drunk in his car on Dunlay Hill, keep him from jumping out at Hondo bridge, and hoist him up the stairs into a jail cell.

NO INCREASE IN PRICE OF PEARL BEER

Brewery to Absorb All of its National Defense Tax

Despite the added tax of a dollar a barrel on the production of beer, called for by the new National Defense Program, there will be no increase in the price of Pearl Beer, either to the dealer or the consumer, it was revealed today by the management of the Pearl Brewery of San Antonio, since the Brewery itself plans to absorb completely the added tax made necessary by this measure.

The cost to the Pearl Brewery will amount to approximately $240,000.00 a year, or an increase of about 20% over and above its present taxes, it was disclosed. It feels, however, that since the public will be asked in many ways to meet its share of the added appropriations for the national emergency, that it is only in line with the Pearl Brewery's patriotic duty not to ask the public to pay an increase price for Pearl Beer.

Pearl Beer will, therefore, continue being sold to the dealers at its former popular price, on the assumption that the dealers in turn, will do likewise.

The management of the Pearl Brewery believes that the public will be so appreciative of this policy that the increased volume of Pearl Beer sales will help it, in part, to defray the cost of the added tax.

Naturally, it is hoped that Pearl Beer will keep the loyalty of its old friends, and win thousands of new ones, too, in order that the Brewery may realize a sufficient increase in sales volume to enable it, in part, to absorb the cost of this added tax.

REV. J. M. ALEXANDER FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Services for Rev. John Meador Alexander, 88, who died shortly after midnight Saturday, June 22, 1940, at his home, 1935 West Huasache Avenue, San Antonio, were conducted Sunday afternoon with Rev. Robert E. Goodrich officiating. A native of Macon County, Tennessee, Rev. Mr. Alexander had lived in San Antonio 39 years. He was a retired Methodist minister. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. J. M. Alexander; a brother, Joe M. Alexander of Kentucky.

Rev. Alexander was well-known and greatly beloved by many Hondo people, having served the local Methodist church one or more times both as pastor and presiding elder. Polished, dignified and reserved, he at the same time was friendly and considerate, a combination of attributes that made of him a most lovable character. The world is poorer for the passing of such a man.

BOY DROWNS IN MEDINA

Bowles, all of No. 2 Fire Station, worked for two hours and five minutes without success. Ross recovered the body of the boy in 15 feet of water. Justice of the Peace Anton F. Haller of Castroville conducted an inquest, and the examining physician pronounced death due to heart failure as there was no water in his lungs.

QUIHI NOTES

He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Ps. 23:3. On this point God is often put on the defensive. His mode of leading, His ways and paths are often questioned. . . Now and then the world is stunned and gasping for breath at the ways and methods He chooses under the guise of "righteousness". And the individual does not catch the drift of His course. Calling His will good and gracious, finding His ways always right, that's often the problem at which we figure all our life, and the answers are not given at the back of the book. So there is many a question mark, much painful thinking, tearful reflection, almost sickening irritation and mortification in many a soul on this point. The burdens are carried with ill will, the heart becomes rebellious, the countenance is falling toward God, here and there. How can He lead me in the paths of righteousness, when His own ways are questionable, irksome, tormenting, subject to correction? —A truly unhappy frame of mind that. The little boy was trying hard to catch that bee buzzing up and down on the window of the railroad car. The maid tried to keep him from it. The boy fretted and screamed. The mother, reading, a few seats in front, annoyed, flared up. What's that eternal trouble? The maid tried to explain. The lady snapped her off. Let him have his will. He got it, and a fearful scream registered the fact. How often do we insist on our bee, disregarding the warnings; the heart insists on having its will. And when we have it, we are inclined to chalk it up to God and blame His way. We do not get around the fatal fact; As we call into the woods, so the call comes back, though another little boy tried to have mother believe, "I was only calling nice names and pretty things, but the little boy in the woods called me awful names." Sin begets sin, incrimination brings recrimination, bluffs excite counter-bluffs, defiance counter-defiance, challenge counter-challenge, lie and distortion unleashes the same thing elsewhere, in brief, often self-made troubles, or as the prophet told his people, "Israel, thou hast destroyed thyself, but in me is thy help." (Hos. 13:9) —God, I think, will take care of Himself and will justify His motives, means and measures with you, even if they are beyond your grasp. And the paths of righteousness as suggested and outlined by His spirit in the gospel and in His clear-cut commandments are beyond the stage of experiment. They are true and tried. If man is willing to abide by them and be governed by them, his way is clear, even if molested by outside interference and the occasional quaking of the heart. "For His name's sake." There lies the strength for our efforts, the guarantee that our attempts are not in vain, the assurance that He backs up every foot in the path of our life, whether in smiles or in tears.

The social of the choir came off in good fashion. About forty members and friends were present for a long evening. The modest prizes at the usual game were awarded to Miss Lucille Boehle, Mrs. Elmer Saathoff, Mrs. Herbert Brucks, and to J. H. Boehle, Clarence Bohlen and Elmer Nietenhoefer; the consolation to Mrs. W. Grell. A small consideration for the labors of the choir—and provided by themselves. Some day, we hope, the congregation will provide the entertainment. The committee, the Misses Lucille Boehle, Mabel Lindeburg and Hertha Webber, topped the occasion with various refreshments.

An unannounced little quilting party by members of the Ladies' Aid was in progress the other day, and we recognized the Mesdames Alfred Boehle, Frank Boehle, Luebbe Boehle, Otto Lindeburg, Louise Menger and D. G. Reitzer. Did we discover them all? A fine additional contribution for our community social next fall. Thank you!

Mrs. Geo. Heyen was taken to San Antonio last week and operated on last Friday. We found her in fairly good spirit and indications seem to point to an early return home. Mrs. John Saathoff is with her to make the surroundings still more homelike. Mr. Edwin Boehle was forced to propel himself by crutches for a while but has returned to the normal way. Mrs. Emil Graff also was confined to close quarters for several days, Mrs. H. J. Boehle taking care of her needs in conjunction with the other children. All's near well again. Miss Emma Nietenhoefer also is under the weather for some time. And a painful accident has happened to Mr. Herbert Brucks that will lay him up for some time and, to some extent, reshape his working program and his future. Thanks and sympathy wherever it is due.

F. F. A. NEWS

Monday morning, June 24, about twenty boys were at the school house to can vegetables which will be used on the camping trip from July 22 to 27. A short meeting was held before work was begun to decide on the amount of cans of corn and peas which will be needed, also for the amount of eggs to be taken along and to get the prices on cups, plates, and forks and knives. During this meeting certain boys were assigned to certain jobs and the work then began.

During the day 160 cans of corn were canned and 43 cans of black-eye peas were canned. This amount of corn may seem like a great deal to take on a fishing trip but it was decided to can enough corn to use for the F. F. A. banquet next year. Sometime in the near future when more black-eye peas are ripe the boys will meet again and can more peas.

The F. F. A. Chapter wishes to thank Miss Nell Foley for her much needed help and advice.

GOODYEAR MARKS PEAK QUARTER CENTURY OF TIRE MAKING . . . SELLING

"Celebrating its twenty-fifth successive year during which, based on production and sales records, an accurate estimate is that more people have ridden on its tires than that of any other manufacturer, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. is marking the occasion with a July 4th tire sale," said Marvin F. Schweers, local company dealer.

Featuring the Marathon, introduced more than two years ago and successfully proved by billions of service miles on the road, as well as the recently announced All-American tire, built to reach 70 per cent of the majority market of users, Mr. Schweers said that, currently he was able to offer the Marathon in sets of two or four tires to meet the peak market in which there should be more replacements, either in sets or units, of worn out casings now running on the highways.

"It is true, as everyone in the great middle class group of car owners realizes, that tires ought to be replaced oftener, especially in the heat of Summer driving when there are more cars moving on the roads and tire failures endanger a greater number of persons, but the matter of cash outlay has prevented buying more than one tire at a time," explained Mr. Schweers. "That is owners could not buy the tire of a recognized manufacturer at a price that would permit replacement of two or four tires, and the thrifty person wants to get as much in quality for his outlay as he can. So, when we offer the Marathon with its high-wide tread, new roll grip non-skid and dual cord breaker protection against bruises and punctures, and stand back of it with a lifetime guarantee, we believe we are doing our part to put good, lower-priced tires within the reach of the majority, thus furthering highway safety."

"The new All-American, Goodyear's contribution to the rock-bottom price range of tires is a great guaranteed value for this field," declared Mr. Schweers, who urged that car owners investigate their own tires' safety, or drive in for a no-charge, no-obligation inspection, because he wants to continue his part in helping reduce motor accidents due to tire failures.

BACK FROM LONG JOURNEY

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Palle and Mrs. F. H. Bohlen returned Tuesday from a three-weeks' trip during which time they traveled 5,000 miles touring the Golden West and intermediate territory.

Leaving here, they traveled by way of El Paso to Bisbee, Arizona. At Bisbee they visited relatives. From there they went sight-seeing to the Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam. Leaving Arizona, they motored on to Los Angeles at which place they visited other friends. While in California, they took in such interesting points as the Santa Catalina Island, the Yosemite National Park, Oakland and the San Francisco Fair on Treasure Island. From there, they dropped down to San Diego, California, and returned by way of Phoenix, Arizona, to Texas and home.

Mr. Palle reports every mile of the 5,000 full of interest and every moment of the trip filled with pleasure. A massive volume would be required to tell all the details of the trip.

SECURE BASS FOR COUNTY.

About thirty Hondo and D'Hanis ranchers who had applied for stock fish for tanks and waterholes, were supplied Wednesday of this week when 40,000 black bass were distributed among them. The fish, ranging from finger length to several inches in size, were secured from the Federal Fish Hatchery at Uvalde through the efforts of the Medina County Wild Life Association, and were transferred from the hatchery by a county truck driven by Edgar Stiegler.

This is the second allotment of black bass for Medina County for 1940, bringing the total of stock fish for streams and tanks here up to 90,000.

According to Mr. O. A. Fly of the Wild Life Committee, there will be other shipments made to include bream and crappie. Any one wishing to receive stock fish may do so by making application at Fly Drug Co., in Hondo.

OUR CHOICE

FOR PRESIDENT—

JOHN N. GARNER.

JOHN GARNER

Let no man usurp the prerogatives of the Democrat party; let the people rule according to time-honored precedent; make John Garner President; keep the Democrat party democratic!

The farm is the last line of defense in any emergency; even cannon-fodder must be fed to be long effective, and the side that can man its guns longest holds the battlefield.

—oO—

Food and raiment are as essential as bullets and bayonets in a war-distracted world. Every producer who increases his yields and every consumer who avoids needless waste becomes a contributor to the common defense.

—oO—

The South Texas Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as opposing any new taxes for any purpose. Good! Now get a candidate for governor to run on that platform, and give us a candidate to work for. And while you are at it you might add a couple of hundred legislators.

—oO—

Politics is productive of some very absurd actions. A case in point is the Waco convention endorsing Garner for the Democratic nomination and gravely resolving "to do nothing to stop Roosevelt". Obviously, if Roosevelt is moving to a renomination an endorsement of Garner is either an empty gesture or they have already moved to stop Roosevelt. On the other hand, having had two terms Roosevelt's only move in harmony with Democratic precedent is on his way out—and the non-stoppers are the very ones who are insisting on stopping him!

—oO—

In advocating what he terms a gross advocting tax in preference to a so-called sales tax or a transaction tax, Jim Ferguson draws this distinction: "The sales tax and the transaction tax will be collected from the poor and the gross receipts tax will be collected from those able to pay. Those who sell cannot pass the taxation to the purchaser or add the same to their price, because if such attempt is made by any seller then he would lose his business and profit which would go to the man next door." We have followed Jim through some devious ways in the past but we fail to see how any one can stay long in the selling game without first adding the tax to all other costs before he can make a profit—and a profit he must have to continue long as a seller. And since the buyer in every case must, therefore, pay the tax on whatever purchases he makes how can either the poor or rich escape paying in proportion to their purchases? Try again, Jim.

IF PEACE COMES

Out of the welter of blood and horror that colors the news from the war zone of Europe there comes one cheerful note.

We are assured by one Karl H. Von Wiegand, writing from Berlin on the situation in Germany, that the "extremist elements which see that peace based on German victories" are worried over what may be the attitude of America towards that peace.

On the otherhand, he quotes from a "conservative government official" the statement:

"The key to peace lies in Washington. On the way that key is turned will depend the length of the war and when peace will come. America can contribute to the shortening of the conflict but it can also do much to prolong it. We believe that PROLONGATION OF THE WAR AFTER IT HAS REACHED THE OBVIOUS DECISIVE STAGE CAN NOT CHANGE THE OUTCOME AND WOULD BE OF NO SERVICE TO EUROPE OR TO THE WORLD."

Read into this probably inspired statement all the propaganda that is obvious or that may be conjured into it, designed to slow up America's help to the allies and slacken her growing bias in their favor, and still all must agree that the stopping of further bloodshed after "the obvious decisive stage" has been reached is wise and humane.

The writer, after having quoted the official as above, adds his own comment as follows:

"There are two schools of thought here. (in Berlin)

"Nazi extremists demand that America keep 'hands off' in Europe's peace-making.

"Conservative, thoughtful elements, looking to the future, declare the wishes and views of America must be taken into consideration in shaping peace, that it would be highly inadvisable to reject or ignore them even if it were possible."

The fact that there is a conservative element among the thoughtful in Germany is the one cheering fact; let us hope that in the flush of his triumph, Hitler's inflated ego does not prompt him to ruthlessly crush out this saving leaven that may leaven the whole loaf of his peace terms, and continue on his mad tangent of aggression on still other peoples.

In the whims of Hitler still lies the chief menace of world peace.

Second to that danger to America's peace—and should Hitler be disposed not to trespass America's rights—is the danger that in jockeying over reparations the diplomats representing the allies outsmart Hitler's and wish off on Germany some of their foreign provinces or possessions the acquisition of which by Germany could only be regarded as a danger to the future welfare of America.

In that event, the war would be far from an "obvious decisive stage"; and allies who repudiate their debts cannot be presumed to be above such vindictive schemes if possible of accomplishment.

America stands sorely in need of a level-headed, neutral leadership at this critical stage; a leadership that cannot be swept off its feet by hysterics; a leadership that will not seek to use this crisis for personal political advantage; a leadership that is alert enough to watch every movement of both sides to the European quarrel; wise enough to understand the objectives and potentialities of their every move; and patriotic and adroit enough to keep out of any affairs not peculiarly America's own concern, and brave enough to protect America's interests wherever involved.

Obviously such leadership lies in the American Congress if we have it at all, and Congress cannot be too zealous in guarding and preserving its every prerogative.

FINANCING PREPAREDNESS

FARMING has sensed the danger to our peace and safety since the very beginning of this boondoggling era when we began piling bonded debts upon future generations; spending borrowed money like drunken sailors for every imaginable scheme; and fostering a spirit of dependence upon government, like spendthrift children of a doting parent, while neglecting to provide security against aggression from abroad.

Now, when our credit is stretched almost to the breaking point, our unpreparedness in a threatened danger that could have been expected since we meddled in Europe's quarrels in 1917, compels us to take the lid off of all limits to our debts to make amends in a hurry for our neglect at leisure.

Some jittery statesman (?) at Washington said: "We'll appropriate the needed funds for preparedness and think of how we are to raise them afterwards."

Well, he knows without having to stop and think that it will have to be done on credit; debt must be incurred for taxpayers in future to pay.

And even in an emergency, prudence prompts that due account be taken of the inevitable pay-day.

In this particular, Senator Thomas of Oklahoma is the one man who seems to have thought of this phase of the problems now confronting our country.

According to press dispatches, he has come forward with three proposals which he recommends as a means to avert either new taxes or an increase in the statutory debt.

"1. A further devaluation in gold content of the dollar to the legal limit permitted the president—50 cents. It is now 59 cents. He insisted such a dollar would still be worth from $1.08 to $1.10 in the terms of property.

"2. Use of the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to increase money in circulation.

"3. Use of the president's dormant power to print $3,000,000,000 in greenbacks."

The first two can be wisely ignored as of doubtful expediency and certain to be inefficient.

The third offers the key to the whole problem.

If Congress would repeal the "president's dormant power", exercise its own constitutional authority to "issue money and regulate the value thereof" and issue the necessary government bills of credit the problem of raising funds would be solved.

The only money in circulation now is credit money, based on promises to pay.

The premium we pay on bonds is the premium we pay for the fiction of having the bondholders underwrite the government's credit.

Let our government issue its own notes and circulate them as full legal tender and the people who accept them will by that acceptance underwrite their government's credit.

Remove the incentive of interest-bearing bonds as a profit from war and you strengthen the morale of the people in the defense of our country and hasten the return of peace.

—oO—

Our friend, Jim Ferguson, in his wife's announcement for the gubernatorial nomination, tells us that "The Texas constitution authorizes the Legislature to pay pensions TO EVERY PERSON OVER 65 YEARS OF AGE not exceeding $15 per month who is not an habitual drunkard, criminal, or inmate of a state institution, and who has lived in Texas 5 years. This can be paid whether the Federal government ever pays a cent or not. The word 'needy' does not appear in the constitutional amendment authorizing the payment of pensions by the state of Texas. The people of Texas had no such thought in mind when the amendment was adopted. They voted the amendment as written and as intended, to wit: to pay every person over 65 years who was not disqualified as above stated a pension not exceeding $15.00 per month." What a lot of bother it would have saved had Jim convinced the legislators of that when they passed the enabling act?

—oO—

The independence of this country was finally won from Great Britain by Andrew Jackson's squirrel riflemen at New Orleans. The rifle to those men was a daily companion and sometimes the only dependence for their daily food. The average man of today, to whom those men bequeathed the priceless heritage of liberty, if called upon to defend that heritage would know about as much about the use and maintenance of modern weapons of defense as Confucius knew about Sunday school.

—oO—

The times and circumstances not only demand that Congress should stay on its job at Washington but work at it as well—not delegate its power and authority to any one. At any time a balance-wheel goes off at a tangent there is an inevitable crash.

RAIN

Refreshing and moist little drops of rain,
Are hurling themselves at my window pane.

They are clean looking and fragile too,
Like beads of sweat or drops of dew.

They may wash or streak my window pane,
To try and stop them would be in vain.

Rain, you're the drink the good earth needs,
To help give growth to little plant seeds.

You revive the weary and thirsty plants,
Give them strength and vigor that was dormant.

We may dislike you, "earth's refreshing pause",
But nevertheless, you are quite a good cause.

SINGERS' HAVEN

Can they not spare the gay skylark
Who charms the summer sky,
Nor drive him down with crippled wing
From bursting bombs, to die?

No answer from those leaden lips,
No glance from frenzied eye,
A frantic world still goes to war
And singing birds must die.

For war brings death to many things
And most of all the weak,
And with its vast crescendo drowns
The message they would speak.

If birds and war-torn human friends
And all with singing voice,
Could find a sanctuary here,
Then might the world rejoice.

Rich in beauty, blooms of splendor
Though their friends are very few;

War on them, the whole day through.

Each season undaunted they bloom
Flaunting their treasure of gold;
With courage they beautify lawns,—

And gambled once more for that is just life.

The sword of the noble
Is rugged and worn,
The flag that is dearer
Is grimy and torn
After the battle is fought!

The man who was truer,
And stood the test
Through stormy weather
While all the rest
Shelter and comfort sought

Is surely the man for whom
The wide world cares,
They point their approval
To the scar he bears,
And not to laurels brought.

For on his noble breast
The scar remains—
An emblem to show the world
Who bore the pains—
Where the sacrifice was wrought!

The man so noble,
So brave and true—
Whose flag is dearer
Than when it was new—
His worth cannot be bought!

WASTED SYMPATHY.

A toiling woman plods the field
With team, to work the stony ground.

She labors hard for autumn's yield
In hope her cellar may be found
Well stored against the winter's need
With some to spare for next year's seed.

The children tug and pull her skirt
But hinder not her work at all.
With heavy plow she turns the dirt,
Oblivious to the baby's call . . .
She has no time to heed the cry
Of tearful children trudging by.

Now the sun drops out of sight,
Two curly heads lie on the grass;
The lowing herd proclaims the night
When hours of rest too quickly pass.
With baby snuggled to her breast
She seeks her well-earned place of rest.

I vision now her home, quite bare,
And void of all to lend it charm;
Perhaps for that she does not care
With babies cuddled in her arm.
She may feel sorry now for me
Because I lack her energy.

CHAPTER III

My month at Dinsmore ended three days after Gypsy's runaway, and we all went back to town. I wanted Dad to take us down to Newport for September, but he refused to do so. He said the stock market needed watching and that he didn't propose to watch it through the reverse end of a safety binoculars. I didn't quite understand what he said, but I got the results all right—that we were not going to Newport. So we went into the hot city and opened up Dad's big town house.

What Could I Do? I Couldn't Sit on Gypsy and Tell to Him.

But he said nothing more about poor Gypsy marrying rich girls. I didn't understand his silence, and out of pure foolishness I tried to encourage him to go on. I guessed that he felt disappointed because he couldn't help when Gypsy ran away or when the police burst in at the night, and I tried to tell him that I knew it wasn't his fault. For of course it wasn't. His horse was a good one, but not good enough to catch Gypsy when she got started. I said all this, and Fred listened and thanked me and—chained the subject, and wouldn't come back to it again.

We had been in the city for nearly a month when things began to happen.

Fred had gotten into the habit of taking us about more or less—always to thrilling places where none of our bet ever dreamed of going. I remember one awfully delightful place where we went through the kitchen to the back yard and ate a forty-cent dinner (red wine included) and didn't hear a word of English while we were there. Josephine disapproved of these expeditions, and went only because I swore I'd go without her if she didn't.

Of course it was only a question of time till we got into trouble. I can't tell you how safe made me long for more exciting, and at last—It was a prize fight this time. Fred told us that he had to report it as an explanation of his inability to take us out that evening; and I had jumped at the chance. "Take us, too," I demanded.

didn't succeed, of course. The place was arranged with plenty of exits for escape in case of a raid—Fred called it a raid—and as soon as the police began to hammer down the doors the crowd began to run. They swept right over the place where we were sitting and carried us away with them just as an extra big wave carries away bathers at the seashore. Fred and Josephine simply disappeared and I was left all alone in the midst of a crowd of "tired" business men who were crazy to keep their names out of the papers.

Of course, I was scared to death, but luckily I didn't lose my head. Probably I would have lost it if the crowd hadn't flung me up against a big, fine, tall man who promptly tucked me behind him and prevented the crowd from crushing me until the first rush was over. By that time the police had broken in at the door and about half the audience had vanished out of the windows. The other half was rounded up under guard.

Some of the men protested strenuously, but it didn't seem to do them any good. I heard some one say that the chief had passed the word not to let anyone go and that the officers didn't dare take a chance, no matter how hard a man begged or how important he was.

But imagine my feelings! I know what Father would say if I were arrested for being at a prize fight. But somehow I didn't feel as much frightened as I might have been. I was still behind the man who had saved me and I took a lot of comfort in the set of his broad shoulders. Every minute I expected him to turn around. But he didn't. And he didn't say a word.

So I plucked him by the shoulder. Time was flying and I had none to lose. "Can't you get me out of this?" I implored. "My father doesn't know I'm here and he'll go crazy if I'm arrested. Please get me out."

The man turned around and I saw that it was M. P. (My Preserver)—the man who had saved me when Gypsy ran away with me that day, and who had refused to tell his name. I nearly dropped through the floor.

He didn't seem at all surprised, however. I guessed afterward that he had recognized me as the crowd swept me toward him.

"I'm trying to figure out some way to do that very thing," he said. "I'm acquainted with a good many policemen, and if you'll wait a minute I'll probably see one I can appeal to."

I waited, of course, but I didn't wait in silence. Why should I? I have never found that silence gets a girl any where. Besides, I was beginning to feel pretty safe. I felt somehow that M. P. would save me. He had done it once before. So I smiled up at him. "This is the second time you've rescued me," I began.

"I haven't rescued you yet, this time."

"No, but you will," I said. "And just to think that I don't know your name! Do please tell me what it is, before I die of curiosity."

He smiled again. "My name is Braxton," he said. "If you really care to know, I've been wondering ever since that day whether I should see you again. But I never guessed it would be here." He glanced around the hall.

"I didn't, either," I returned. "But then I don't know much about such places. Maybe meeting your friends at them is the regular thing. I wanted to see what it was like and I made Fred bring me and my sister. It was Fred who was with me that day, you know. They were with me when the police broke in, but I don't know what's become of them. I don't see them anywhere. If you—"

"I beg pardon," Mr. Braxton broke in. "There's a sergeant that I know. If you'll come—" He pushed through the crowd and I followed at his heels.

In a moment we were close by an officer who wore a sergeant's stripes on his arms. "Sergeant," said Mr. Braxton, "do you want to stand for a case of brainstorm?"

I couldn't imagine what he meant, but the sergeant seemed to understand. "Pshaw, Mr. Braxton," he jibed, "your brain ain't in any danger—for a mighty good reason." He grinned as he spoke.

Mr. Braxton didn't grin. He came right back at him.

"It isn't my brain that's worrying me," he said. "It's the brain of the father of this young lady." He gestured at me. "He's a billion-dollar Wall Street man and he'll have the exaggerated ego sure if she gets on the police books. Better let me take her home. I'll show up at the station and pay my fine later."

The sergeant started and looked at me. "I hope you weren't hurt in the rush, miss," he said, civilly.

I shook my head. "Not a bit," I answered. "Thanks to Mr. Braxton. But I'll be awfully hurt if you don't let me get away."

The sergeant considered for a minute. Then he nodded. "All right," he said. "Take her along, Mr. Braxton, and then you show up at the station. It's irregular, of course, but I've learned that a policeman doesn't make good just by pulling everybody he meets. Offener he does it by knowing when not to pull them. When the prisoners start out of here you go along with them till you reach the street. Then just step out of line and go. I'll fix things all right."

After that it was only a case of follow-my-leader, until we were in a taxi bound for home.

Of course I was worried about Josephine. But I was pretty sure that she and Fred must have been carried out of the hall in the first rush and had gotten away safely. Anyway, there was nothing I could do except get home as quick as I could and wait for them.

Meanwhile there was no use in worrying and I wasted no time in that unpleasant occupation. All the way uptown I chattered away trying to find out all I could about Mr. Braxton without asking him outright.

He wasn't communicative. I found that he was from the South originally but had lived in the West for years; but that was all I did find out. Except that he was awfully nice. But I had suspected that before.

All too soon we reached home. Mr. Braxton was laughing as he helped me out of the car, but when I turned toward the marble pile that housed the Dinsmore family he grew dreadfully solemn. "Good Lord!" he exclaimed. "Are you Curtis Dinsmore's daughter?"

I did some very rapid thinking—rapid thinking is my long suit. Mr. Braxton had been unwilling to accept thanks for saving my life when Gypsy ran away; and I guessed instantly that he was one of those haughty young Americans who refuse to have anything to do with a girl if her father happens to be rich. I didn't want him to refuse to have anything to do with me. So I fibbed promptly.

"I'm only a poor relation," I laughed. (I really was poor; I had spent my whole allowance. And I certainly was dad's relation.) "My name is Dinsmore, too, and I live here. I'm sort of companion to Miss Dinsmore."

Mr. Braxton drew a long breath. I could see that he was relieved. "I was afraid for a moment that I had told that sergeant the truth when I said your father was in the billion-dollar class," he said. "It would have relieved my conscience at the expense of my happiness. . . . Have you a latch key?"

"Yes," I nodded. "They allow me a lot of privileges. One is to receive my friends. You'll give me a chance to receive you, won't you?"

Mr. Braxton possessed himself of my key. "I'll be delighted," he said. "I'm not in town very often, but I'll call when I can—if I may."

"You surely may. Call soon!" I argued.

Mr. Braxton had gotten the door open now. He straightened up and held out his hand. "I will, thank you," he said. "Good night."

If he had been pretty nearly anybody else in all the wide world I would have known how to prevent his going. But somehow, with him, I was stupid. I couldn't think of a thing to say. I just shook hands dumbly and watched him fade away. And all the time I was just crazy to keep him.

Two minutes after Mr. Braxton had gone, Josephine and Fred turned up in a taxi, driving like mad. They had been released by an officer who knew Fred and they had searched and searched for me. They hadn't found me, of course, and equally of course they hadn't dared to tell anyone who I was. So, at last Fred had brought Josephine home, on the chance that I might have gotten there first somehow. Intending to go back and hunt some more if I hadn't turned up. Josephine nearly fainted when she saw me. She must have been under an awful strain. And Fred had been, too, for the matter of that.

Anyhow, they both said "Never again!" when they braced up at last. And never again it was. Even I was satisfied.

According to Representative Bailey Ragsdale there are 2,265 communities in Texas that are served by no other form of commercial transportation than trucks. This represents 33.7 per cent of the 6,710 communities in the state. These communities have a population of 216,891, and these citizens depend upon truck transportation exclusively as their only form of commercial transportation. For every truck operated over the highways of Texas the operator pays in special taxes each year an average of $95.33 and the combined truck operators in Texas pay in special taxes each year a sum equal to $1,314.52 for each mile of highway that is maintained by the highway department of Texas. There are nearly 300,000 trucks registered in Texas, and 28.7 per cent or approximately 84,000 are operated by farmers to bring their produce to market.

"MISS HOUSTON, TEXAS" SEES THE FAIR

With a trylon round her shoulders, seventeen year old, Dimple Causey, selected as "Miss Houston" by a jury of Texas businessmen, pauses for the camera on the terrace of General Motors Highways and Horizons exhibit at the New York World's Fair. Miss Houston who arrived in New York on the S. S. Algonquin, will spend the week at the Fair as a prize for her victory over 11,000 entrants in the recent contest.

Forum Envisions Broader Opportunities For Youth in the World of Tomorrow

Members of a "Forum of Youth and Industry" held recently by General Motors to discuss questions on the theme, "Opportunity for Youth in Building the World of Tomorrow," as submitted by more than 300 college students from various sections of the country. Seated (left to right) are members of the board: President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth College, General Hugh S. Johnson, President Karl T. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Charles F. Kettering, Vice-President of General Motors in charge of research. Standing behind the board are the dinner hosts, William S. Knudsen, President, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of General Motors. In the inset is Clifton A. Fadiman, who served as the forum's master of ceremonies.

TODAY'S GENERATION of youth, far from having to face a dismal future without hope of jobs or anything beyond subsistence living, will find that as a result of industrial progress, born of research and technological advances, there will be new frontiers to conquer far exceeding in promise those physical frontiers of the past which won for America the name "Land of Opportunity."

This was the encouraging message which several hundred students, representative of American youth of college age, received from leaders of American thought at a dinner given by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of General Motors, at the Corporation's Highways and Horizons exhibit at the New York World's Fair.

Recognizing that youth today faces serious problems of adjustment just as society does as a whole, these leaders nevertheless expressed the conviction that new inventions and new products, fanning out on an ever broadening industrial front, would open up frontiers far more limitless than those Horace Greeley had in mind when he said, "Go west, young man."

In his talk to the college students, Mr. Knudsen said that while he couldn't tell them specifically where to get a job, he could tell them that industry has room for them.

The program represented the first attempt by any large business group to sponsor a comprehensive consideration of the much-discussed youth problem.

An apt keynote of the dinner program was offered by Mr. Knudsen when he said to the youth present: "To me, you are the new models coming along. The rest of us are in the used car class."

of course there was an uproar. Josephine said I was crazy and Fred said it was out of the question. But I stuck to my guns and after I had made Fred confess that there would certainly be a few women there and that nobody would dream of hurting us, Josephine's objections simmered away.

Williamson, Fred Lieber, Julius Tschirhart, Robert Boehme, Oscar Karm, August Schott and Jesse Applewhite entertained with a miscellaneous shower from two to five o'clock in the St. Louis Hall. The railing of the stage was effectively decorated with fern and entwined with Queen's Crown. Tables on the stage laid with white held the beautiful gifts and the tables were decorated with garlands of Queen's Crown and Shasta daisies above the garlands. At either side of the stage white baskets held fern and varied hues zinnias and in the background was a huge heart covered with vines studded with Shasta daisies. A bowl of Shasta daisies bordered with fern, was placed on the piano. Mrs. J. D. Williamson, Misses Isabel, Kathryn and Bernice Karm and Freddie Lieber assisted the honoree with the gifts after she had opened them by distributing them among the guests. Masters Elroy Tschirhart, and Arliss Schott and little Miss Gladys Karm carried the gifts after they were viewed by the guests to the tables on the stage. Mesdames Robert Boehme and Julius Tschirhart were in charge of the gifts.

The guests were entertained with piano solos by Misses Nata Jane Halty and Eloise Haegelin and Master Wilburn Schott. A three-tiered white cake embossed with green and pink flowers, topped by a miniature bride and groom centered the honoree's table.

CASTROVILLE GETS 4-YEAR HIGH SCHOOL CLASSIFICATION

Castroville, Texas, June 25.—The Castroville Public School has received notification from the State Department of Education in Austin that they have been bettered to be being classified to the rating of a four-year high school, according to word that has been received by Supt.
